

Birthday Boy Zac!

Evie has been helping around the house by vacuuming, learnt how to play croquet and written a message in Ogham - can you decipher it?!

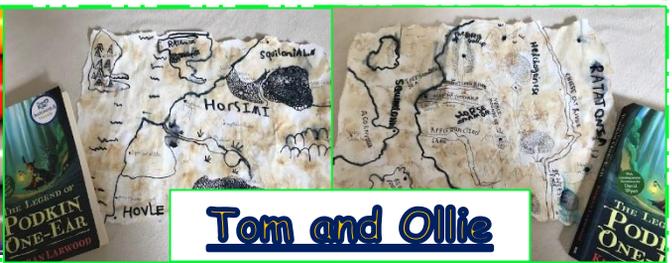

Evie

I have been very busy, making the most of our family time, cooking our family dinners every second night with my Dad, baked cakes and cookies, learning new gymnastics moves and I'm doing online conditioning with my gymnastics club 4 times a week. We made a rope swing in the woods behind our house and turned my gymnastics air track into a slip and slide in our garden and also had a water fight! I have also been helping my sister with her school work. I can't wait to go back to school whenever that is and see you all!

Tom and Ollie have been in touch with Kieran Larwood! They wrote to him, and received a lovely reply, and now they have created these maps, inspired by the Five Realms! Don't you just love a book that starts with a map?

Sonny went on a walk around a field and found lots of clay pipes and Roman pottery and a coin that is Edward VII. He was very pleased! He has been reading Podkin, doing lots of art (toilet rolls Minions) and is learning to walk across a tight rope without holding on!

Rowan

A bumper update from Rowan, who has been making amazing use of all the space on the farm! He has been catching carp, learning about growing and harvesting, measuring for different purposes, building dens, finding newts, testing water around the farm and learning about the nitrogen cycle! He's also being a brilliant big brother and mastering ice cream making - mango flavor. Yum!

Ethan has been very busy finding out all about artist Andy Goldsworthy - a brilliant link to our 'The Balance' topic. He's also written a fab poem about newts! Here's an excerpt:

Newt

And on world newt day I pick a newt to keep as a pet,
But I don't want to.
Instead I want to be a newt,
I want to wriggle round in the water,
I want to regrow limbs and my heart, but how do I become one?
It is now bed time and I'm still wondering how to be one, then I fall asleep...
I wake up under water with a tail, little feet and a long tongue
I think I'm a newt but why? "Because of the power of dreams..."
Says a soft voice

Charlie has been as busy as ever, challenging himself in maths, learning about fossas, running 5K, being an excellent big brother, making salmon en croute for dinner (a Lord siblings production) and making glow in the dark chalk, to create an unmissable thank you to our wonderful NHS staff!
